To whom it may concern:

We are interested in building two levels, one of which is a loft, on top of our existing house because it is the most cost efficient solution we could find in order to have the various rooms/areas that would accommodate our family needs. Building to the side or to the back of the house will definitely increase the cost of our project and will not give us the type of solution we need. For example, many of our family members, i.e. our parents, brothers and sisters, live abroad and they come every year to visit and spend extended time with us. The loft will allow us to house them in such a way that we all can keep our privacy. We worked a lot on the budget for this project and found that the current design was the best solution. Moreover, we put a lot of time and effort in the current design of our house and we believe that it is a beautiful design which blends very well with the other houses in our neighborhood.

Best regards,

Louis Bell and Florence Jaumotte
