

D. A detailed statement of existing and intended use of the structure

The existing structure is a single family dwelling with 3 floors and a basement. Currently, the first floor is 10 feet longer than the second floor in the rear of the property.

The intended use of the proposed structure will be as a single family dwelling also with 3 floors and a basement, but adding a 13.5 * 10 feet room to the rear of the second floor only. The second floor will be made to equal the same size of the first floor and will not enlarge the overall footprint of the home. The second floor will not be larger than the first floor. The proposed additional structure will be used as a child's bedroom.
