Case no.05-42

I am writing in support of the building of a medical office building at Sibley Hospital. Most viable hospitals have physicians offices adjacent to their facilities. Virginia Hospital Center is a case in point It is in a primarily residential neighborhood and does not cause undue congestion. All medical services can be obtained at the one location and it decreases the number of trips a client must take for care.

Upper northwest needs and has a very good hospital. The medical office building would assure those of us living in the area of continuing to have these services. It would help to continue to attract quality physicians. I believe it would also decrease the overall volume of traffic in northwest by eliminating multiple trips for services.

Sincerely,

Jane J. Whitaker
