Re: Case No. 16559

Dear Mr. Kress:

I am writing to express my objection and that of my wife to the proposal of the Field School to establish a private school at 2301 Foxhall Road, N.W. I understand from our local Neighborhood Alliance that this institution will consist of 320 students and 74 faculty members and staff.

We live close to the intersection of Foxhall Road and W Street, which is very near to the Cafritz property in question. Over the years, we have seen Foxhall Road become increasingly congested. It will obviously become more so once George Washington University undertakes its expansion at its Mount Vernon campus. And now the development of this additional facility, if it is approved, will add considerably to local traffic problems and environmental pollution. We, the affected neighbors, will suffer the consequences.

We therefore believe that the Field School's application, at least in its present form, should be rejected.

Sincerely yours,

Charles R. Hartley
