Ms. Elizabeth Ely
Director
The Field School
2126 Wyoming Avenue
Washington, DC 20008

Dear Ms. Ely:

It is an honor for us to go on record in support of your plan to relocate the Field School to the Foxhall Road site (BZA16559). Many of us have fond memories of our children growing and maturing at the present location. We remember and appreciate all of the creativity that went into making the space so usefully fit the needs of your program even as it expanded. But you are correct in your assessment that the proposed site will enhance the truly outstanding academic program which you and your staff have so painstakingly developed over the years.

It is written, "You can tell the tree by the fruit it bears." Throughout its existence, The Field School has given birth to wonderful students and distinguished graduates. Your program of education is one which blends the classical with the modern, which is sensitive to and supportive of individual academic needs and learning styles, which is highly and subtly structured so as to develop students who are both free and independent thinkers and well-rounded, responsible citizens. We know of many of your scholars, but permit a personal note: our son, Terah, has maintained above a 3.0 average and full scholarship each of his four years at Howard University; he will graduate with honors. We thank you and the staff of The Field School.

While it is true that by moving to the Foxhall Road location The Field School will be better able to continue its quest to fulfill its educational mission, it should also be remembered that The Field School will undoubtedly add quality and value to the area, as well.

Sincerely,

Maxine A. LeGall & Q.T. Jackson, Jr.
