Phillip Monroe Grace

1699 Foxhall Rd. N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20007
202-342-0578

'00 MAR -2 A10:49
OFFICE OF ZONING
DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

16559

February 26, 2000

Sheila Reid, BZA Chair
c/o Ms. Jerrily Kress, Director
Office of Zoning
441 4th St NW, #210
DC 20001

I have lived at this address for almost 35 years and I have seen what was once a sleepy, residential road turn into a "free-for-all way". It is amazing that now we have multiple traffic lights and you can hardly sit outside during rush hour for all the traffic noise.

I remember clearly when St. Patrick's moved from across the street to their present location how all the neighbors were guaranteed that there would be no additional traffic congestion. Just yesterday as well as every day before during this school year, I drove past the line of waiting parents extending well into Foxhall from Whitehaven Pkwy. And heaven forbid that anyone should need to travel down Whitehaven during pick-up hours.

This is a fine residential area. We do not need another school. It is a shame what the zoning changes are doing to our beautiful area. Will we soon have bowling alleys or shopping centers too?

Say "NO" to Field School.

Phillip Grace

BZA
Case No. 16559
Exhibit No. 44

Board of Zoning Adjustment
District of Columbia
CASE NO.16559
EXHIBIT NO.44