3053 Ordway Street NW
Washington DC 20008 3255

Since 1942

BZA-16970

Andrew Altman
Dir. of Office of Planning
801 N Capitol St. NE
Washington, DC 20002

2003 MAY 13 PM 4:58
D.C. BOARD OF ZONING

May 2, 2003

Dear Mr. Altman:

As someone who lives near the NCRC, I urge you to take a stand against their exsparsion. 90% of the students come one to a large car. One third are from Maryland and Virginia. The Department of Transportation has said there is no good solution to the traffic problems with the school at their present enrollment. It is a dangerous situation now. Only a small school can fit into a residential neighborhood with narrow winding streets, and leave us with a true feeling of neighborhood, as well as the safety that the Dept of Transportation would be happy with. They have not lived to any caps on enrollment, but are always looking for exceptions, higher caps and building exsparsion.

Respectfully
Joann C McLaughlin

BZA
Case No. 16970
Exhibit No. 182