Dear Susan:

I am alerting you to a speeding incident I witnessed this afternoon by an NCRC driver. At 3:50 PM, I was talking with Reeves Carroll in front of her home on Ashley Terrace when a black station wagon whipped onto Highland from Newark and raced up the street to the front of the school at such an excessive speed that Rives and I were quite startled.

A few minutes later, a young woman came running out of the school with a child in tow. When I asked her about the speeding on a clearly residential street, she explained that she was an au pair and she was sorry but that she was late.

But for the fact that school is not fully in session yet, this incident could have resulted in a tragic accident. For your information, the speeding car was a late model Oldsmobile Silhouette minivan with a Maryland license plate 488 BLV.

I don't always have time to report the incidents I see but this one was so egregious I needed to notify you.
