

Dear Chairman,

Feb 25, 2017

I, Robert Hawn, live at 3304
20th ST N.E. Washington D.C.

Everyone must follow the rules.
However the city plans to break lots of rules. That, in my opinion, will hurt the surrounding residents. It's not fair nor is it right. In our society people are punished for breaking rules.
I feel the city can do whatever they want, Why not protect the tax payers? I myself have been homeless 15 plus years, but now I am a tax payer. I myself hope to buy a house one day, and when I do, I hope the city won't break the rules and hurt me

Sincerely,
Robert Hawn
