We live across the alley from the property where the proposed outdoor kitchen would be constructed. The lots in our area are very close together. Consequently, we have two major concerns. First, that we will have to contend with cooking fumes from a close outdoor kitchen. Second, that the location of the proposed structure will lead to late night (after 10 pm) noise. The proposers should be questioned concerning how they intend to deal with these concerns. To my knowledge there is no other construction of this sort elsewhere in the neighborhood.
