Hi,

Just wanted to say I support building this detached structure.

Frankly, i think it's absurd that DC prioritizes parking over building more living spaces given lack of affordable housing supply. The solution for solving parking problems rests in raising the price to street park in my opinion, since the current price is very low and hardly ever raised to even keep up with inflation. So yes, I'm biased, but I fully support the build.

Thanks,
