SCOPE OF WORK:

Two Story Rear Addition including a new First Floor exterior screened porch, a new Second Floor rear bedroom and bath, and other renovations.

REQUEST FOR SPECIAL EXCEPTION:

By right per R-3 Zoning a rowhouse is typically allowed a 10'-0" maximum rear addition from the exterior face of the farthest rear wall of the immediately adjoining properties. In the Owner's present case, the western adjoining rowhouse is a special condition as relative to the remaining block since the home occurs at an obtuse angle and that its rear wall sits closer to the street by 3'-3" as relative to the Owner's rear wall. The Owner's eastern adjoining rowhouse has a rear elevation that sits flush with the Owner's rear wall. The property because of the western adjacency is by right allowed a 6'-9" addition, which significantly limits the Owner's ability to add area as relative to the remainder of the block.

The Owner requests for Special Exception to construct a 10'-0" New Addition into the rear yard as measured from the existing rear face of the rowhouse.

Note, the western adjoining property has a covered porch area aligned to the rear face, and an open deck extending beyond the rear face of the Owner's rowhouse.
