Re: ZC Case 08-06-7 (Comprehensive Zoning Rewrite: Campus/Institutional)

Honorable Members of the Zoning Commission:

This letter requests that you allow this supplemental filing in the above-referenced case, solely to provide some statistical information about “institutions” in the District of Columbia that may be of value to you in the deliberations that are forthcoming. My letter of December 29 provides you with my comments and suggestions about the six broad Recommendations taken up in the hearing.

For this statistical summary, I examined the universe of tax records dating from March 2008 as then established by the Office of the Chief Financial Officer. All told, there were over 190,000 tax records. Of these, 7,451 were classified as having a tax exemption. Of those exempted, nearly half (3,706) are classified in a manner that suggests they are within the sphere of “institutions” as that term is coming to be understood as part of the case now under your scrutiny. This report breaks down that universe and teases out data that may be of value to you.

As part of its responsibilities to assess real property and collect taxes on taxable properties, the Office of the Chief Financial Officer also establishes and maintains records about the basis of exemptions. Of course, exemption classification is not in and of itself tantamount to use, but can be informative as to the overall population of institutions and something about them when grouped in a revealing fashion.

The overall universe of 3,705 records that have exemption codes that are inherently institutional are as follows:

Description	Code	Total Count
Religious	E-1	1,220
Educational	E-2	472
Charitable	E-3	537
Hospitals	E-4	14
Libraries	E-5	1
Foreign Governments	E-6	592
Cemeteries	E-7	23
Miscellaneous	E-8	846
Total		3,705

CASE NO. 08-06-7
EXHIBIT NO. 36

ZONING COMMISSION
District of Columbia
CASE NO. 08-06-7
EXHIBIT NO. 36

Tax records also contain data as to the building type or land use of property without a building. This provides a basis to exclude dwellings and dwelling units, which are most likely not to be treated as institutions if the actual use is residential and within the zoning meaning of “family.” Thus, dwellings used as a parsonage or as a shelter for six or fewer persons are extracted from this analysis -- as are properties that shown as being presently unimproved or classified as vacant¹:

Description	Code	Total Count	Residential Properties	Unimproved Properties	Net Plausible Institutional
Religious	E-1	1,220	174	252	794
Educational	E-2	472	140	115	217
Charitable	E-3	537	251	68	218
Hospitals	E-4	14	0	0	14
Libraries	E-5	1	0	0	1
Foreign Governments	E-6	592	222 ²	142	228
Cemeteries	E-7	23	0	0	23
Miscellaneous	E-8	846	615	75	156
Total		3,705			1,652

Attached please find a roster of these 1,652 plausible “institutional” properties. Each tax exemption class starts on a new page. Within each tax exemption classification (shown above), the records are sorted by the name currently recorded as “owner” and, of course, are located across all of the District of Columbia, not just in the Residence zones. But, changes being made should consider citywide implications as the overall re-write process is not limited to just Residence zone districts.

Overall, you will find many properties that are familiar; you will also likely find some that are not so well known and a few, mostly among the miscellaneous, that are likely not really institutions but have some other explanation. For example, some railroad properties are owned by one or another “rail” entity but used by Amtrak and are exempt on that basis. However, the roster gives one some impression of how wide a swath the overall re-write might cut. I urge you to proceed only after careful review and focus on that which is determined to be truly critical.

Respectfully,

Lindsley Williams

¹ Vacant could mean “true vacant” or could also be an older lot that is part of an assemblage some of which is already developed. Here, I exclude all manner of vacant lots, though this may mean some potential future institutional sites are also excluded as the focus is on current institutional uses, excluding housing assessors treat as for individuals or families (but retaining dormitories). WMATA properties, a separate tax exemption class, are omitted altogether.

² Within this tax exemption class, tax records do not distinguish within the use code between “chanceries” (offices) and those that are exclusively or primarily “embassies” (residences of ambassadors); thus this total and accompanying roster overstates the population of “foreign government” sites that are plausibly institutional.
