Over the years, Mike Hickok has built Hickok Cole into one of greater metropolitan Washington's top design firms. He prides himself on having developed a company that supports bold ideas with technically superior construction drawings. Working with the top developers and contractors from the region for over thirty years, Hickok Cole has garnered a reputation as a go-to firm when a project needs great design, a balanced budget, and a creative solution to complex problems that arise in the ever-present zoning and review board constraints prevalent in the region. Mike believes strongly in community service and supports the local art community with the firm's annual Art Night event, encouraging a dialogue within the local architectural community. He has also served as the past president of the DC chapter of the American Institute of Architects and has long served as a leader in the region's real estate and design community.

Mike is a registered architect in Maryland, Virginia, New York, and the District of Columbia. He is a fellow of the American Institute of Architects, and a member of the Urban Land Institute, the National Trust for Historic Preservation, and the Harvard Graduate School of Design Alumni Council.
