ZONING COMMISSION
District of Columbia
CASE NO. 08-20
EXHIBIT NO. 15

GOVERNMENT OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA
OFFICE OF PLANNING

MEMORANDUM

TO: Zoning Commission for the District of Columbia

FROM: Jennifer Steingasser, Deputy Director JS

DATE: November 12, 2008

SUBJECT: Supplemental Public Hearing Report for Zoning Commission Case 08-20 - Text Amendments to the Zoning Regulations to regulate firearms retail sales establishments, initiated by the Office of Planning.

I. RECOMMENDATION

The Office of Planning recommends the Zoning Commission:

- 1) Approve the following text amendments to the Zoning Regulations:
 - a. Amendment to Chapter 1 (Definitions) §199 to add a definition of firearms and firearms retail sales establishment;
 - b. Amendment to Chapter 2 (R-1 Residence District) §203.9 (Home Occupation) to add firearms retail sales establishment to the list of prohibited uses;
 - c. Amendment to Chapter 7 (Commercial Districts) to do the following:
 - i. permit firearm retail sales establishments as a permitted use in the C-2-A through C-5 Commercial Districts and establish specific requirements regulating the location of firearm retail sales establishments within these zones
 - ii. prohibit firearm retail sales establishments as a principal or accessory use within the C1 Commercial District
 - d. Amendment to Chapter 8 (Industrial Districts) to permit firearm retail sales establishments as a permitted use in the C-M-1, C-M-2, and M districts and establish specific requirements regulating the location of firearm retail sales establishments within these zones
 - e. Amendments to Chapters 5 (Special Purpose Districts), 6 (Mixed Use Commercial – Residential District), and 9 (Waterfront Districts) to clarify that the firearms retail sales establishment use is not permitted as a principal or accessory use in these zones.

II. BACKGROUND

At its July 28, 2008 public meeting, the Zoning Commission took emergency action and set down for public hearing text amendments to allow for the regulation of firearms retail sales establishments. On September 18, 2008, the Zoning Commission held the public hearing for this case, heard testimony from interested parties, and requested additional information from the Office of Planning prior to decision making.

III. MODIFICATIONS FROM THE PUBLIC HEARING

There are several changes to the proposed text from what was presented at the public hearing and the original emergency text amendment. After the public hearing, the Office of Planning staff has continued to work with staff from the Metropolitan Police Department (MPD) and Office of the Attorney General (OAG) on this issue. As a result, we have become better informed about the logistics of a firearms purchase as well as the gun license and registration process. We found that many of the safety and security measures we were attempting to implement via the special exception process were being addressed elsewhere.

The major changes to the advertized text include allowing firearms sales within a larger number of zoning districts than initially proposed, allowing the sales as a matter-of-right use rather than by special exception, and reducing the location restriction from 600' to 300'. The table below summarizes the changes to the regulations since the public hearing.

	Type of Use	Zoning Districts Allowing Firearm Retail Sales	Location Restriction
Advertized Proposed text	Special Exception	C-3-C, C4, C5	600' from schools, libraries, churches, playgrounds, residential districts
Current Proposal	Matter-of-Right	C-2-A, C-2-B, C-2-C, C-3-A, C-3-B, C-3-C, C4, C5, C-M-1, C-M-2, M	300' from schools, libraries, churches, playgrounds, residential districts

IV. PROPOSED TEXT

The Office of Planning (OP) recommends that the Zoning Commission adopt the following text amendment to DCMR, Title 11 (The Zoning Regulations) with all new text shown in bold. Text that has been added since the initial setdown is shown in bold, underlined text. Text that has been removed since the initial setdown is shown in ~~strikethrough text~~.

1. Amend Chapter 1 Definitions §199 by adding the following definitions:

Firearm: a gun, pistol, or any weapon capable of firing a projectile and using an explosive charge as a propellant.

Firearms retail sales establishment: an establishment devoted to engaged in the sale, lease, or purchase of firearms or ammunition. If an establishment is a firearms retail sales establishment as defined here, it shall not be deemed to constitute any other use permitted under the authority of this title.

2. Amend Chapter 2 R-1 Residence District Use Regulations §203.9 (Home Occupation) by adding the following as a prohibited use:

(c) Firearms retail sales establishment.

3. Amend Chapter 5 Special Purpose Districts §502.7 Accessory Uses as follows:

502.7 Any other accessory use and accessory building customarily incidental to the uses otherwise authorized by this chapter shall be permitted in an SP District, except that a firearms retail sales establishment shall not be permitted.

4. Amend Chapter 6 Mixed Use (Commercial Residential) District §602 Prohibited Uses by adding the following:

602.1 (r) Firearms retail sales establishments as a principal or accessory use.

5. Amend Chapter 7 Commercial (C) District §702.4 C-1 Accessory Uses as follows:

702.4 Other accessory uses customarily incidental and subordinate to the uses permitted in C-1 Districts shall be permitted in a C-1 District, except that a firearms retail sales establishment shall not be permitted as an accessory use.

6. Amend Chapter 7 Commercial (C) District § 721 Uses As of Right (C2), by adding the following subsection:

721.3 (u) (Firearms retail sales establishments, provided:

- i. No portion of the establishment shall be located within three hundred feet (300 ft.) of a Residence (R) or Special Purpose (SP) District.
- ii. No portion of the establishment shall be located within three hundred feet (300 ft.) of a church, school, library, or playground.

7. Amend Chapter 9 Waterfront Districts §901.2 Uses as a Matter of Right (W) as follows:

901.2 Accessory use (including parking), building, or structure customarily incidental and subordinate to the principal uses permitted in § 901.1 shall be permitted in a Waterfront District as a matter of right, except that a firearms retail sales establishment shall not be permitted as an accessory use.

8. Amend Chapter 9 Waterfront Districts §902.1 Prohibited Uses as follows:

902.1 (r) Firearms Retail Sales Establishment.

V. ANALYSIS

The purpose of this text amendment is to further refine proposed regulations pertaining to the location of firearms retail sales establishments as both principal and accessory uses.

The proposal has been revised to allow firearm retail sales establishments within several commercial and industrial zoning districts. They include the following: C-2-A through C-3-C, C-4, C-5, CM-1 CM-2, and M. A map showing the location of these districts is attached (Exhibit 1). The proposed regulations also establish location restrictions based on the proximity to certain other uses. The retail sale of firearms would also be permitted as an accessory use, subject to the same set criteria, in these zones. Additional text amendments note where firearm retail sales establishments are prohibited. A map showing the permitted locations for firearm retail sales establishments is also attached (Exhibit 2).

The proposed regulations are based on a combination of:

- other District laws pertaining to firearms;
- existing zoning regulations, which also limit the location of certain uses by proximity requirements;
- a study of other cities which regulate this use; and
- an analysis of the existing federal and District laws which regulate the issuance of firearms licenses.

Prior to the proposed text amendment, the retail sale of firearms was permitted as-of-right in all districts that allowed retail uses, beginning with C-1 Commercial. Such uses were classified as general retail uses and not subject to special review or requirements. The emergency text amendment, adopted in July 2008, placed additional restrictions on the location of gun stores. Since its adoption, the Office of Planning has continued to study this issue and coordinated our work with the efforts of other District agencies like the MPD and OAG. We have also received and reviewed citizen comment from a variety of groups including ANC's, District agencies, concerned residents, and interest groups. As a result, we have made several changes to the proposed text in response to their concerns and to ensure that the regulations are compliant with the recent Supreme Court ruling.

Previous and Current Rationale

The emergency text amendment was largely based on the approval process in place for sexually oriented business establishments (SOBE). SOBEs are only permitted by special exception within the high-density commercial districts and are subject to specific location criteria. While the emergency text amendment continued to allow gun stores in the District, they included a special exception review process for approval. The intent of this restriction was to avoid the creation of non-conforming uses while the temporary regulations were in effect, if the final action resulted in a more restrictive policy than the initial proposal. The current text amendment would provide more opportunities for the retail sale of firearms and in a wider range of locations than initially proposed. The changes include allowing the establishment of gun stores as a matter-of-right use and reducing the location restriction from uses like schools and playgrounds from 600' to 300'.

The Office of Planning recommends that the permanent text allow firearm retail sales establishments beginning in the C-2-A zone district. We felt it was inappropriate to allow such uses in the C-1 district due to the intent and character of such zones. The C-1 district is a designed to be a neighborhood shopping district "to provide convenient retail and personal service establishments for the day-to-day needs of a small tributary area, with a minimum impact upon surrounding residential development" (§ 700.1). The C-2 districts, called Community Business Center Districts, are designed "to provide facilities for shopping and business needs, housing, and mixed uses for large segments of the District of Columbia outside of the central core" (§710.2).

Because firearms retail sales establishments would likely draw customers from a wider service area it was determined that the C-2 zone was the appropriate zone to introduce the use.

Reduce Radius Restriction

OP is also recommending a reduction in the advertised radius restriction for firearms retail sales establishments from 600' to 300' from schools, churches, libraries, and playgrounds. While the Office of Planning recognizes that the process for obtaining a gun would not allow for potential gun owners to enter a store and leave with a firearm in the same trip, we find that the separation of such uses from those typically associated with residential uses or uses characterized by the presence of children and large groups has value for the protection of these groups. OP recommends lessening the location restriction to protect these uses from the potential for an adverse impact on safety and security without being overly prohibitive for those wishing to establish retail stores that sell firearms.

Matter-of-Right Use

The advertised text proposed that firearms retail sales establishments be approved by special exception, which would include a public hearing at the Board of Zoning Appeals. The proposed special exception criteria was aimed at providing measures to ensure the safety and security of the premises where guns would be stored and the protection of nearby areas. After additional discussions with MPD, it was concluded that the proposed criteria were already addressed by MPD and Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (ATF) as part of their licensing and registration procedures, including the prohibition on window displays of ammunition and the provision of security and safety measures. Additionally MPD expressed concerns about the advertised requirement to locate gun stores on the ground floor due to the possibility of theft.

As a result, OP and OAG concluded that the requirement for a special exception was an unnecessary administrative step and duplicative of much of the comprehensive licensing processes of both the ATF and MPD prior to obtaining a business license. OP feels comfortable that the safety and security concerns will be adequately addressed as a part of this review and therefore recommends that firearm retail sales establishments be allowed as a matter-of-right use.

Parking

OP does not recommend any new parking requirement specifically for firearms retail sales establishments. Current regulations require retail uses to provide parking in relationship to the total floor area of the use. This ratio ranges from one space per 300 square feet to one space per 3,000 square feet, depending on the district. In addition, in most districts, uses less than 3,000 square feet in size are exempt from a parking requirement. Such parking requirements would apply to a retail store for firearms. In addition, the current firearms license and registration policy does not require licensed gun owners to transport firearms in a vehicle.

Firing Ranges

Several questions have been raised about the possibility of establishing a firing range in the City. In addition, references have been made to the term "shooting gallery", a use first introduced in the C-3-A district (§741.2 (a)), in comparing it to a firing range. The historical interpretation of a shooting gallery has not applied to a firing range but instead to recreational activities typically found within amusement park:

- 741.2 In addition to the uses permitted in C-2 Districts by § 721.1, the following service establishments shall be permitted in a C-3 District as a matter of right:
- (a) Amusement enterprise, including penny arcade or shooting gallery;

Under the current regulations, firing ranges would be a permitted use in the M District. Since firing ranges are not explicitly addressed or defined elsewhere, they would be allowed in the M zone by §821.3, which lists “[A]ny other lawful use not regulated by §§ 822 or 823 shall be permitted, subject to the standards of external effects in § 825.”

In addition, the external effects section regulates the impact of uses on neighboring properties, including issues like noise, vibration, and odor. Additional protections are required under §804, if such uses are adjacent to a residential or commercial district, therefore OP concludes that the external effects provisions would be appropriate for addressing potential concerns about the impact of a firing range on neighboring uses.

Home Occupation Use

The Office of Planning no longer recommends adoption of the definition of a “firearms dealer” as proposed in the OP final report. In response to the comments filed and in an effort to provide consistency in language, OP recommends an amendment to the home occupation section (§ 202) to prohibit a firearms retail sales establishment thus negating the need for a defined term of “firearms dealer.”

Best Practices

At the request of the Commission, OP has expanded its examination of best practice used by other cities. The previous research highlighted cities which specifically address the retail sale of firearms in their zoning regulations. Cities like New York and Chicago were not previously included because they restricted firearms retail stores through legislation rather than zoning codes. The attached table has been updated (see Table 1) to include additional cities as well as provide a brief summary of current gun laws. Of the new cities studied, which include New York, Chicago, and San Francisco, only one addresses the retail sale of guns in its zoning regulations, consisting of a prohibition of this use as a home occupation.

With regard to gun laws, there are several similarities amongst the communities reviewed. A standard requirement for those wishing to purchase weapons is to first obtain a license or permit and register the weapon itself with the police department. The actual gun restrictions are typically enforced via the licensing and registration process. Other common regulations include specific requirements of the firearm licensee, including a minimum age limit (either 18 or 21) and lack of prior offenses, drug use, or history of mental instability. All of the communities studied provided exemptions of these rules for law enforcement personnel (often including retired employees), which may also include wardens, members of armed forces, and/or security guards. Some communities also address gun shows, travel to gun shows, and the sale or transfer of antique firearms as being exempt from their “standard” firearms regulations.

The regulation of firearms and their retail sale varies amongst the communities studied. In cities with more stringent gun control laws, less emphasis is placed on regulating the location of gun stores, with the exception of San Francisco, which includes location restrictions as part of their licensing requirements. Instead of utilizing zoning tools to restrict the retail sale of firearms, these communities rely on comprehensive firearms permit and licensing procedures, typically found in the conduct or public safety sections of their municipal codes. These regulations often include explicit lists of permitted and prohibited types of weapons, safety certification requirements prior to the issuance of a firearms permit, as well as limits on the issuance of gun licenses. In cities with less stringent regulations, the applicable zoning requirements become more robust, including a combination of conditional zoning approval and location restrictions.

VI. CONCLUSION

Based on discussion with MPD and OAG, OP has revised its recommendations to reflect licensing and avoid duplication of requirements. The Office of Planning has also met with Councilman Mendelson to review his comments and issues and he has stated that he is in agreement with the revised recommendations.

The Office of Planning recommends amendments to 11 DCMR (ZONING) as stated above be approved and readvertized for public comment.
