

Dear Office of Zoning,

I am writing to express my concern about just a few of the many adverse impacts that the Vision McMillan Partner's (VMP) consolidated PUD, master plan, and proposed rezoning of the Historic McMillan Park property to CR and C--3C Zone District (Case # 13-14) would have on the surrounding communities.

The proposed development poses a number of unacceptable traffic risks to the neighboring communities. As admitted by the developer's paid traffic consultant, the project would generate about 2,000 additional cars per hour during morning and afternoon rush hours, with at least 6,000 additional vehicles per day overall. As bad as these numbers are, the developer-supplied numbers neither take into account the traffic jams already on First Street NW and North Capitol Street, nor do they consider the traffic that will also be generated from other adjacent developments such as the massive Armed Forces Retirement Home development (just a block from McMillan Park), the Monroe Street development, and the Catholic and Trinity University projects (causing in total more than 10,000 new vehicle trips per day through this neighborhood in a few years). And because of the lack of any workable street grid in and around McMillan Park, the area is littered with a substantial number of intersections that already receive failing grades from DDOT. Although this gridlock is foreseeable, neither the District nor VMP have investigated the potential impact on fire and emergency response times and accessibility to the largest medical center in the District. The plan also foresees to remove a substantial amount of street parking spaces in the neighborhood, which would severely impact a available parking. In sum, VMP's proposed project would have an unacceptable traffic impact on the neighboring communities for which no feasible mitigation measures are being proposed. The height, size, and density of the proposed PUD and master plan are not in compliance with the Comprehensive Plan and specifically the section of the Comprehensive Plan that states that no more than moderate development is suitable for McMillan Park and that the city should avoid giving away public land. The McMillan Park property is listed on the National Register of Historic Places and the proposed PUD would demolish 90% of the historic structures at the site, according to the October 2013 Historic Preservation Review Board denial of the demolition application (HPA # 13--318).

The proposed master plan and PUD would also have an unacceptable impact on the needed open and park space in Ward 5 as well as DC as a whole. The 1901 McMillan Plan was part of a comprehensive plan to preserve and create park space and foster recreation as part of the "Emerald Necklace" of parks along the high points of the city. Washingtonians used the area as a park until it was fenced off by the city at the beginning of World War II (and many residents still played there surreptitiously in the '60s and '70s). The current plan would demolish this Frederick Law Olmsted

Jr. Park. Rather than create the stunning place (with retail and other amenities) that a properly and carefully readapted McMillan Park could be, the proposed plan would remove this open space and park from the neighboring community, Ward 5, and DC as a whole and leave it with a rump of what this amazing place could be. This potential loss would present an unacceptable impact both in terms of park and needed open space resources, but also in terms of storm water and flood risk impacts due to overly dense development in an area already susceptible to flooding.

Lastly, the proposed development would cause land values in the neighborhood to become even more unstable than they have been in the last few years as a result of speculation on high-priced properties. The proposed plan's so-called "affordable housing" is too scarce and aimed at people with incomes far beyond those of Washingtonians truly in need of affordable housing. The District has neither studied nor presented any proposals for mitigating these negative impacts.

Seriously, would you actually submit a proposal to redevelop Central Park with a freeway and with a 6 lane freeway run through it? Would you ask developers to build a 12 story condo complex in your backyard, or a strip mall, or even a metro stop? If so many people (who live in our great neighborhood of Bloomingdale), why would you want to continue wanting to be hated and then leave and have us clean up the mess you will have created! I ask that you reconsider the proposed development and leave our great neighborhood intact.

Thank you,
Greg Ham
