I am asking the Zoning Commission to

PROTECT MCMILLAN PARK

Don't destroy the open air and grass parkland that currently serves us as a carbon sink, water filter, and an open air refuge that provides views unsurpassed in our City. The historic underground caverns can continue to be used for emergency water security purposes and flooding mitigation, as shown by DC Water and their adaptive re-use project underway right now. And, we cannot stand for the City's short-sighted desire to privatize this twenty-five acres of public land, our McMillan Park.

The City's plans to pave over the parkland and tear out the underground vaulted caverns is

The Evil Planning for Urban Life is A Technical and Political Design; DC a municipal Corporation I "REFUSE" to believe DC has a Lack of Resources or Political Will to Continue to Move This City into "Poor Planning Generate Compound Many Problems.

Thank you for your consideration of this very important public property
