COMPANY

STONE advises clients on and manages all aspects of commercial construction and development projects, acting in the owner's rep/project management/construction management role. The company has overseen design and construction for a number of special use projects, including indoor recreation centers, ambulatory surgery centers/healthcare facilities, restaurants, breweries, and dog care facilities, where the containment and control of noise, vibration, odor, and other specific aspects is critical to the user and adjacent occupants. STONE also oversaw design and construction of District Dog's Navy Yard facility which delivered about a year ago.
