Columns as benches and walk paving

Groin vaults and columns as park gateway - structurally reinforced

This exercise furniture is modeled on the box jump / step, a set of elevated benches or stands that can be found in any gym. As with the box jump, these elements come in a range of heights, allowing for a wide variety of activities and accommodating a range of abilities. The goal of this design is to provide a challenging and appealing fitness experience for adults while shaping a dynamic public space that is adaptable to other uses.
